

RMTC SEEKING EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR AND CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

The Racing Medication and Testing Consortium (RMTC) is seeking an Executive Director/Chief Operating Officer. The RMTC requires a multifaceted individual to provide administrative oversight of large-scale drug research projects, implementation of world class laboratory drug testing standards, and the development of policies and procedures for the detection and identification of prohibited substances and the uniform regulation of medication in horse racing.

The ideal candidate will possess strong qualifications in the following areas:

Communication – As foremost industry spokesperson on issues relating to medication and testing, this position requires strong speaking and writing abilities to effectively communicate with legislators, regulatory authorities, track representatives, veterinarians, horsemen, horse racing fans, media and the general public.

Administration and Organization – In addition to administration of a $600K-plus budget and the financial welfare of the organization, this executive director must originate, organize and coordinate research activities of the RMTC through contractual and volunteer third parties relating to medication policy development and laboratory testing.

Education and Experience – Experience or education required to effectively perform the above functions includes college and post graduate degrees, and sufficient scientific knowledge to interact with veterinary and chemistry professionals and researchers – particularly as it pertains to the horse racing industry.

Preferred education and experience includes a veterinary degree or analytical chemistry doctorate and previous work in the horse racing industry, veterinary science, or drug testing and/or related research projects.

The RMTC office is in Lexington, Kentucky.

The position requires approximately 20% travel.

Salary is competitive and based on background, skillset and experience. A generous benefits package is included.

For additional information, please contact Hallie Lewis at hlewis@rmtcnet.com.

All interested applicants should send a cover letter and resume to contactus@rmtcnet.com or the RMTC office. Inquiries and submissions will be kept confidential.
